May 2026

Standing inside a grieving home on an Israeli farming cooperative, Y. quietly accepted a New Testament.

Y.'s family was utterly consumed by sudden grief. His father, H., had just passed away after an aggressive battle with cancer. In accordance with Jewish custom, the family immediately entered shiva—the intensive seven-day period of mourning—in their home on the moshav (farming community).

But the bridge for this precise moment of gospel opportunity had been built weeks prior through a broken computer.

Jack, one of our international representatives serving in Israel, had previously visited the home to assist with computer technical repairs. During those technical visits, the adult son, Y., was present and began asking sharp, direct questions about faith. Jack didn't just fix the hard drive; he clearly explained how Yeshua the Messiah answers life's deepest questions.

When tragedy struck the home, a foundation of deep relational trust was already in place. Because Jack was equipped to step back into that sacred space of mourning, he could place a New Testament directly into Y.'s hands. Now, an entire family in a traditional Jewish farming community is weighing the claims of Jesus during their darkest hour.

The Multiplier Effect: Systems Drive Frontline Ministry

This is the direct ripple effect of your strategic partnership. I do not stand on every frontline myself—instead, I coach, train, and structurally sustain the leaders who do. When you invest in my ministry, you act as a force multiplier for every national worker around the globe, ensuring they are operationally and spiritually prepared to meet Jewish communities in crisis.

To maximize their on-the-ground hours, I spent the past month implementing a significant operational upgrade: migrating our international representatives to DonorElf. This intensive data project eliminates administrative barriers, freeing up vital hours each week for these workers to focus on people rather than spreadsheets.

MINISTRY PARTNERSHIP UPDATE

I took part in the Support Raising Leadership Conference (SRLC 2026). During the week, I collaborated with global coaches and software developers to ensure our representatives lead with strong spiritual health, trusting in God's limitless abundance instead of the exhausting stress of a scarcity mindset. Leaders who are sustained lead to lasting ministry impact.

The Biblical Blueprint

Our strategic duty to stand with the Jewish people is clearly set forth in Scripture. Romans 15:27 reminds us: "...For if the Gentiles have been made partakers of their spiritual things, their duty is also to minister unto them in carnal things." By resourcing national workers on the ground, we fulfill a profound biblical mandate to offer tangible comfort to the people who gave us our Savior.

Partner With the Mission

Expanding this work worldwide requires a committed team dedicated to prayer, advocacy, and financial support. If you're interested in enriching your prayer life with a deeper understanding of current events, I encourage you to read my recent four-part blog series, Informed Intercession: Praying for Israel with Eyes Wide Open. It has already provoked meaningful discussions among believers, moving beyond typical media headlines.

Let's connect this month to explore how we can together broaden this ministry's impact:

Prayer Requests

Please join me in bringing these specific, strategic needs before the Lord this month:

- For the Frontlines in Israel: Pray for Y.'s salvation and for comfort for his mother, T., as she navigates life as a widow on the moshav. Pray that the New Testament left in their home bears eternal fruit.
- For Operational Implementation: Pray for our international representatives as they complete onboarding with the DonorElf platform. Request endurance for the manual data corrections and the technical learning curve so they can return to full operational speed.
- For Leadership Longevity: Pray that the themes from the SRLC 2026 conference take deep root. Ask the Lord to protect our representatives from burnout and to ground them firmly in a mindset of God's absolute abundance and spiritual health rather than in performance-driven stress.
